Our Dancing Pencils Literacy Development Project has been set up to give books written by Dancing Pencils members to disadvantaged or needy township or rural schools. We have books that will get South African children reading as they have been written by South African children and adults. With our extremely low literacy levels, this is worth pursuing.

This NPO has also been set up to pay for right brain training for mentors who will assist their learners in the skills of writing publishable work and of lateral thinking.

It has further been set up to pay for the origination of books, which includes typing, editing, book creation and printing.

All these are important in the development of new books by members of Dancing Pencils Writing Clubs.

- SPECIAL REQUEST: Sponsor 2000 copies of iSimangaliso's True Hippo to give 50 copies of each to 40 rural schools in St Lucia area in March – it is a reader for grades 1 – 3.
- SECOND SPECIAL REQUEST: Sponsorship of books by 57 new deep rural clubs in runs of 50 so each school can receive 50 copies of their learners' work.
- Sponsorship can help us get the books that Dancing Pencils members write, to people who will love them and so encourage a love of reading and literacy.
- There are other packages available for sponsorship: 20 schools to start Dancing Pencils Writing Clubs with annual Anthologies published for this school club. (2 day training)
- 2000 print run of books by clubs for giving to other clubs and encouraging reading
- Master Mentor 2 day training
- Sponsor one rural Dancing Pencils Writing Club and their book
- sponsor prizes for top writing clubs and top young authors
- Sponsor additional training ie novel writing courses, script writing courses and journalism.
